

Highway robbery

U.S. 231, from the Florida state line to Panama City, is known as Revenue Avenue. The Florida Highway Patrol is now known as Financial Highway Patrol. The big money is the Move Over Act. A case presently pending in appellate court reveals a trooper's indication that he was almost 40 feet from the curb of U.S. 231, in front of a tattoo shop, in the grass, and gave the driver a citation for failure to move over.

Judge Dedee Costello put the driver in jail for 30 days for recording his own public judicial hearing. Judge Costello is also the Girls Gone Wild judge.
